WHERE STRIKERS ARE WRONG.

FROM the evidence at hand and the conclusion that the Chicago street railway men who have voted to strike are wrong, is irresistible. The Union Traction Company, in this case the employer of the men, offered an increase in wages and agreed to employ only union operatives. More, it proposed arbitration as a method of settling the dispute, and announced that it would be bound by the decision of the arbitrators.

By their vote in favor of a strike the men rejected these overtures, and so placed themselves in the wrong at the start. William Mahon, international president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employees, told the Chicagoans that the general union would not support them in their position as long as they refused to submit their claims to arbitration, and the strike is doomed before it has fairly begun.

Strikers are not always right any more than employers are always wrong. It is evident that men who are not fit to lead, men who have risen to power through that glibness of tongue which has caused certain people to refer to labor leaders as "labor agitators," are in control in Chicago. If the workers know when they are well off they will kick their bad advisers out and make a fresh start.

Street railways are public utilities of the most necessary sort. Their peaceful operation should never be interrupted except under the gravest provocation. Citizens can get along without anthracite coal; they can do without steel rails and structural iron, but they must have some sure and prompt means of intra-mural transportation at all time. Otherwise business is paralyzed and the wheels of trade will move but slowly.—Salt Lake Herald.

GOLD AND SILVER PRODUCTION

THE greatest gain in silver production in 1901, according to the report of the director of the mint just issued, was in Utah, which showed an increase of 1,493,200 ounces over the output of the previous year. Colorado fell off 2,046,100 ounces in silver and $1,135,900 in gold. Nevada gave an increase of nearly a million in gold. Montana diminished 1,062,700 ounces and Idaho $86,200. The total value of the precious metals produced in the United States in 1901 was $111,795,100, of which $78,666,700 was gold and $33,128,400 was silver.

Colorado continues to hold a big lead in production, notwithstanding the falling off in output. Its gold yield was $27,693,500 and silver $11,063,680. California is second with $16,891,400 in gold and but little silver.

Utah ranks sixth in gold, with $3,680,200, closely followed by Nevada, but in silver Utah is third with $5,648,480. At the present rate of increase, Utah will stand second this year.

Wyoming, though situated in the heart of the Rocky mountains and occupying a central position in the region of precious metals, produced less than South Carolina or even Michigan. North Carolina yielded more gold and silver by threefold than did Wyoming.

The Tonopah district in Nevada promises to place this State in its former enviable position as a precious metal producer.

THE ancient eagle bird has another chance to scream. Larned, the American tennis expert, has defeated Doherty, the English crack, in the finals for the championship of the world. Is there any other game England can play?

A UNITED States treasury clerk who has devised an infallible plan for winning bets on horse races will have plenty of time from now on to work out his theory. Secretary Shaw has discharged him.

ONE more fool has joined the great majority. He lighted the fire with kerosene over in Wyoming. Providence has happy ways of maintaining the intellect average, and this is one of them.
